FUNDRAISING

Tissendo raises capital from idiCo to strengthen its offering and accelerate its growth in France

idiCo invests in Tissendo alongside its existing shareholders

Tissendo, a multidisciplinary accounting firm, announces the completion of a fundraising round backed by idiCo, an independent private equity firm. The transaction will support Tissendo's next phase of growth by strengthening its service offering, accelerating its nationwide expansion and consolidating its position as a leading partner for very small businesses, SMEs and mid-sized companies.

Tissendo supports business leaders with their accounting, financial, employment, legal and personal wealth management needs. The firm combines accounting and audit expertise with several advisory activities, including financial strategy, transaction services, restructuring, valuation, employment and HR services, legal advisory and wealth management. This organization enables clients to benefit from coordinated support throughout the key stages of their company's development.

A fundraising round enabling Tissendo to scale up

In a fragmented market comprising more than 20,000 firms in France, Tissendo stands out through its entrepreneurial DNA and integrated multidisciplinary expertise. The firm focuses on providing comprehensive, cross-functional support to the managers of very small businesses, SMEs and mid-sized companies. Its model is based on a multidisciplinary, high value-added approach that addresses all the financial, employment, legal and strategic challenges faced by companies, as well as the personal wealth management needs of their leaders.

The funds raised from idiCo will enable Tissendo, in particular, to:
- accelerate its nationwide external growth strategy;
- continue investing in technology, particularly artificial intelligence, cybersecurity, collaborative cloud solutions and regulatory compliance tools;
- strengthen its teams, shared functions and areas of expertise in order to broaden its offering and support its clients even more closely.

"We are particularly proud of this milestone. idiCo's investment alongside us is not merely a financial transaction: it brings together our entrepreneurial ambition and that of a partner who shares our vision of providing comprehensive, human and demanding support to the leaders of very small businesses, SMEs and mid-sized companies. We chose idiCo for its ability to support us beyond purely financial considerations, and for the quality of the relationship built throughout this process. This fundraising gives us the means to achieve our ambitions: to accelerate our external growth strategy, enabling us to double in size within six months, strengthen our expertise and technology tools, and continue to make Tissendo a leading firm in supporting business leaders. We are convinced that this new milestone will strengthen our collective ability to create value for both our clients and our teams." emphasizes Christophe Bourgognon, Chairman and Partner at Tissendo.

"We want to offer business leaders an alternative to what is currently available in the accounting, audit and financial services market, enabling them to focus on their core business with complete peace of mind. idiCo's investment in Tissendo, together with this fundraising round and the implementation of additional bank financing, gives us the means to develop our vision nationwide and strengthen our value proposition by building on the strength of our teams and a modern approach to our businesses." explains Thomas Leroudier, CEO and Partner at Tissendo

idiCo, a committed and responsible investor alongside Tissendo

To achieve its ambitions, Tissendo partnered with idiCo, a leading private equity platform for French and European SMEs, with 25 years of experience, distinguished by its responsible, committed and hands-on approach.

"We were particularly impressed by the quality of the management team, its entrepreneurial ambition and Tissendo's differentiated positioning in a still highly fragmented market. The group has strong expertise, an ambitious technology roadmap, particularly in artificial intelligence, and all the assets needed to become a leading national player." highlights François Bernon, Investment Director at idiCo.

"Tissendo is the sixth investment made by the idiCo Croissance 5 fund and is fully aligned with our strategy of supporting SMEs seeking to consolidate their market position. This 100% cash-in transaction will accelerate the group's buy-and- build strategy. The group has already completed two acquisitions and is currently assessing several new opportunities in exclusive talks." explains Sacha Talmon, Partner at idiCo.
