SIMPLICITI STRENGTHENS ITS MOBILITY BUSINESS WITH THE ACQUISITION OF ABC INFORMATIQUE, FRANCE'S LEADING PASSENGER TRANSPORT MANAGEMENT SOFTWARE PROVIDER

Simpliciti, the technology partner for sustainable territories, today announced the acquisition of ABC Informatique, a leading French software provider specializing in business-critical solutions for the passenger road transport industry.

This transaction, the largest acquisition completed by Simpliciti to date, is part of the Group's ambitious growth strategy, which has already led to six acquisitions over the past three years. It significantly strengthens Simpliciti's Mobility business alongside its Waste Management and Water & Green Infrastructure activities.

Headquartered near Valence in the Drôme region of France and employing around thirty people, ABC Informatique has established itself as the French market leader in management software solutions for passenger road transport operators.Its flagship software suite, AbcCar, supports more than 700 transport organizations in managing their day-to-day operations, covering planning, operations, payroll preparation, commercial management and fleet management, while integrating regulatory requirements, industry-specific constraints and customer-specific processes. ABC Informatique also develops AbcTourisme, a software platform enabling group travel professionals to design and manage tailor-made travel packages with a high level of flexibility.

The company serves a broad portfolio of leading public and private transport operators, including RATP Cap, the CFTR, Galéo, Saphir, Faure and Ginhoux groups, as well as major public operators such as the Hauts-de-France Regional Transport Authority and RTM Aix-Marseille-Provence.

A strategic transaction strengthening Simpliciti's position in mobility

With this acquisition, Simpliciti reaches a new milestone in the development of its Mobility business.

For more than 30 years, Simpliciti has supported local authorities, mobility authorities and transport operators through its CITI'Moov and TransScolaire solutions dedicated to demand-responsive transport, mobility services for people with reduced mobility, school transport and accessible transportation services.

Simpliciti intends to continue developing ABC Informatique while preserving the strengths that have made the company successful for more than 35 years: its teams, leadership, deep industry expertise and trusted customer relationships. The Group also plans to develop operational and technological synergies across its Mobility business.

Beyond its strategic and industrial rationale, the transaction is fully aligned with Simpliciti's mission: leveraging technology to make mobility more accessible, efficient and sustainable. By strengthening its presence in collective transport and passenger mobility, the Group expands its ability to support operators providing alternatives to individual car usage and improving access to employment, education and essential services across territories.

Management Statements

Maxime Bérard, Chief Executive Officer of Simpliciti

"We are delighted to welcome the ABC Informatique teams to the Simpliciti Group. This transaction represents a major milestone in the development of our Mobility business. ABC Informatique brings recognized expertise, a strong customer base and unique industry know-how that further enrich our offering.

The complementarity of our expertise, technologies and teams enables us to build an even stronger organization, capable of accelerating innovation and creating greater value for our customers. Together, we are reinforcing our ambition to become a leading French technology platform serving mobility stakeholders and, more broadly, connected and sustainable territories."

Nicolas Bertolami, Chief Executive Officer of ABC Informatique

"For more than 35 years, we have developed our solutions alongside our customers. Joining Simpliciti is an important step that will allow us to accelerate our development while remaining true to the values that define us: deep industry expertise, customer proximity and high-quality service.

This transaction opens new opportunities for our teams and will enable our customers to benefit from greater innovation, broader expertise and ever more effective solutions to support their long-term operations."

Etienne Chemel et François Bernon, Investment Directors at idiCo

"idiCo is pleased to continue supporting Simpliciti's external growth strategy with this sixth acquisition since our investment in the Group. The combination with ABC Informatique, a business of significant scale, further strengthens the software and recurring revenue component of Simpliciti."
